Verse 1

I can hear our planet weep
There's an emptiness wrapped in future greed

As I wander slowly down this lonely street
There's a loss of hope in our time of need

Chorus 1

It's hard to wake the woke, they're blind
The virtual signals that unwind
A reality that clears their minds

They cannot see the truth, they're unkind
In the light of day, they just might find

Verse 2

A Congo child digging through the mud
The Solar panels and the Uyghur slaves

In some insane attempt to stop future floods
All sacrifices to the Gods of Climate Change

Bridge

Decades of climate propaganda
Remember that you'll own nothing
If you don't wake up soon, you'll find
Freedom, a relic of the past

Layered with pandemic and CRT
And you'll be happy
Socialist nightmares are haunting your life
Wake up now, wake up fast

Instrumental A E F# B B

Verse 3

I can hear our planet weep
The open wounds of socialist green

From Lithium scars beneath our feet
The false gods of environmental greed

Chorus 2

It's hard to wake the woke, they're deaf
Mass formation psychosis, they've slept
Pure ideology, leading to a fool's false bet

They won't listen to science, they're inept
Through the few chances that they get

Verse 4

I can hear our planet weep
The EV and PV toxic waste

As useless wind blades are buried deep
Poison in her veins, the real green they chase
